

Moving Agricultural Water Management Onward

Considering an agricultural drainage project that will strengthen your farming operations by making you more productive and sustainable?

We can help.

About AgH2Onward

The Water Security Agency, through the Saskatchewan Association of Watersheds, is offering free online workshops throughout 2021 called AgH2Onward.

AgH2Onward will provide innovative agricultural water management solutions that will help you become more resilient in the face of droughts, flooding and other extreme weather events in a changing climate.

Together, we will move agricultural water management onward to protect your investment.

This workshop will introduce you to...

- The Agricultural Water Management Strategy in Saskatchewan
- Effective agricultural water management tools and techniques
- The benefits of getting your drainage projects approved
- The impacts of agricultural drainage
- How incorporating mitigation strategies can help you adapt to a changing climate
- Considerations and regulatory requirements for drainage approvals
- Using a Qualified Person to assist you through the approval process
